British Columbia News

The following items are clipped from our Victoria exchanges to the 2d inst.

THE COLLINS O. T. EXPLORERS

Harry McNeill, who passed the winter at Tatla Lake, with [illegible] telegraph explorers, arrived in town on Saturday. He crossed the mountains from Tatla Lake to the mouth of Skeena river in company with Mr Butler and an Indian guide. The party were on snow shoes forty four days. The snow was very deep and the weather cold. After reaching Fort Simpson the party waited three weeks at Fort Simpson for Mr Blinkinsop and Major Pope who left Tatla Lake for the coast via Stickeen river ten days after McNeill's party left that point, but as they did not arrive our informants came on to New Westminster. They were twenty-one days in reaching New Westminster in a canoe.

THE CREW OF THE LABOUCHERE

A portion of the crew of the Labouchere arrived on the Oregon yesterday. They complain that the gentleman who in the absence of Consul Booker, represents British interests at San Francisco, treated them in a heartless manner in refusing them relief after the wreck and in ordering them away from his office. This complaint should be investigated.

FROM QUEEN CHARLOTTE ISLAND

The steam tug Diana returned on Saturday from a trip to the northern gold fields. The news from the Queen Charlotte Company's mine is encouraging. The workmen had commenced running a tunnel into the foot of the mountain to strike the coal seam at that level and should they succeed, the tramway may be laid on a level to the water about five-eighths of a mile distant. The Diana brought down a small quantity of coal from the outcroppings of the North Pacific Anthracite Coal Company's vein on Skidegate Bay. The coal is equal in quality to that obtained by the Queen Charlotte Company on the same bay.

UNION OF THE COLONIES

Sir James Douglas has received a dispatch from London which states that the Colonies are to be united under a Federal Government with one Governor, and a fiscal system in accordance with the wishes of the people of each Colony. It is also stated that Victoria is to be a free port and the capital.

The Masons at Nanaimo have leased a building for a Masonic Hall and a charter for the establishment of a lodge at that town is expected from England by next mail. Credit is due Dr Carrall for taking the initiative in this matter.

BIG BEND GOLD DUST

Nearly $1,000 in Big Bend gold dust was brought down by Mr Ladner and deposited in the Bank of British North America for assay. The gold is of very pure quality, and worth $18 50 per ounce.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

The public will be glad to learn that Capt. Mowatt has been appointed to the command of the lake steamer Marten and he will leave for the Shuswap country to-morrow.

The Evening Post is dead, and the plant will, we learn, be offered in a few days for sale by the mortgagee.

Thomas Field, a native of England, aged 48 years and a settler of fifteen years standing, died at the Hospital yesterday.

A great crowd of passengers started on the Enterprise yesterday for Big Bend. There must have been fully 140 souls on board. The steamer was also loaded down with freight.

We clip the subjoined Big Bend news from the Colonist:

TRAVEL AND FREIGHT FOR THE MINES

Mr W H Ladner, of the well known firm of Smith & Ladner, has kindly favored us the following items. Mr Ladner left Seymour on the 21st, and reached Kamloops in two days, from whence he rode 40 miles in two and a half days. Several freight and passenger boats had arrived at Seymour amongst them Cutler & Parsons' 20-ton boat, having considerable freight and forty passengers. One of Capt. Moore's boats was about half way up Big Shuswap Lake and the other within six miles of Little Shuswap Lake. Both were loaded with freight and passengers. "Big Jack" had made one through trip and two half trips with his large canoes. Barnard's large express canoes were making regular trips, and were well patronized. There is no scarcity of boats for freight and passengers. The fare charged from Savona's Ferry to Seymour is $8. Large numbers of men were arriving at Seymour and leaving immediately for the mines, most of them loaded with provisions. The weather was reported mild and pleasant in the diggings; the snow was disappearing fast and the miners were busy preparing sluices, etc.

Mr J T Scott, of New Westminster, has forwarded a quantity of machinery for working the discovery claim on Clomah's Creek, in which company he has a [illegible] interest.

Three saw-mills will be in operation this season at Big Bend.

BUSINESS AT SEYMOUR.

The Columbian says:

At Seymour everything was life and bustle. Buildings were going up that would do no discredit to the capital. Hotel accommodation was rapidly extending, and would soon be all that could be desired. Carpenters and shingle makers were kept busy, and a considerable number of laborers were employed. The Hudson Bay Company had given out a contract to deliver 400 cords of wood at the water's edge for the use of the steamer—price $4 per cord. Mr Moberly arrived at Seymour on the 19th, and Mr O'Reilly was at the steamer en route to Seymour. The markets were well supplied. Flour had not exceeded 30 cents at Seymour at any time during the winter, all statements to the contrary notwithstanding. When Mr Ladner left it was offered freely at 22 cents. A large lot was offered at 20 cts, without buyers. Other articles were proportionately cheap, and of course prices were tending downwards.

THE FRENCH CREEK MINES.

A correspondent of the Columbian states that French Creek is staked off for two and a quarter miles, but very little work is being done. None of the claims that paid last season are being worked, the owners being at Colville, and have not been able to reach here on account of the ice in the Columbia. They are losing valuable time as there is no frost in the ground and the low stage of the water makes it favorable for working upon claims that have been opened * * * * Mr Wilson of the Landing, kept an account of those passing up and down and informed me that I was the 122d man above that place. Some have come in since, and I presume that 160 to 175 men will include all that have come—enough for the present unless they bring their supplies along. Flour is selling here at $1, bacon $2, butter $2 50, tea and coffee $1 50, tobacco $5. There are a few [illegible] at 60c, onions 80c. Quite a number are preparing to build, having spent the winter in getting out timber and lumber and their preparations for large buildings show they have great confidence in the future of French Creek; it is the finest location I have yet seen for a mining camp.

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY.—A correspondent of the San Francisco Bulletin, writing from Portland, April 16th, says of the Pacific University at Forest Grove:

On the 16th inst., I spent the night at Forest Grove the site of the Pacific University. It is distant from Portland, in a due west direction about 20 miles, but as the road goes, probably 25. The spot is a lovely one and is such a combination of wood and meadow, hill and vale country as I was as a scholar and idealist would select whereon to found a conventual school which should be a world to itself. Here may yet be the Oxford or Cambridge of Oregon. Nature has done her part, and man or a few men are working in comparative obscurity and neglect to complete or rather begin what remains to be done. At present there are three professors with 39 scholars young men and boys. The teachers have residences upon the ground and receive from the endowment fund and tuition fees a salary of $800 a year each. Boys are boarded in the town at the houses of families for $3 50 and $4 per week. The old college building was erected in 1858. A new one is in process of construction near by, and upon the top of a knoll, about 3 000 yards distant a handsome new building wherein is kept a female school.

In the old college building I found the largest and most interesting miscellaneous library that I have seen on this coast. All parts of Great Britain and the United States seem to have been laid under contribution to furnish the collection. Among other rare prints I saw a quarto edition, three volumes, in boards of Capt George Vancouver's voyages around the world. What I found fault with was the name of the place and the University. The first is founded in the presence of a temporary circumstance—an oak forest grove—which will gradually lose its significance as compared with the other features of the place; and the latter is altogether too comprehensive or indefinite to express the idea of "a local habitation or a name." The river which drains the surrounding country and which flows near the site is called "Tualatin." This was originally the name of the county, as established July 5th, 1843, but in 1849 was changed to Washington by an anti-Indian legislature. The name is now unappropriated, and might be applied to the place and University—Tualatin—Tualatin University. Indeed I believe that when this school was first incorporated—September 1849—it was called The Twality (Tualatin) Academy.

State Items

A severe snow storm visited the country between the Deschutes and Dake Oven, one day last week. Delightful climate.

The Union Convention of Wasco county, on Saturday nominated the following ticket: Representatives H A Hogue and C B Engle, for Clerk R B Reed; for Sheriff R W Crandall; for Commissioners R Mays and R H Wood; for School Superintendent Thomas Condon; for Assessor, L L Rowland; for Surveyor, W B Campbell; for Coroner Dr W B Warner. The following persons were appointed County Central Committee: George A Liebe, O N Denny, Jas Halloran, J S M Cook, and O W Weaver.

The Mountaineer speaks in high terms of the capabilities and fitness of the candidates.

The Copperheads of Wasco hold their County Convention on Monday.

Our dispatch of last evening mentions the pardon of the Salvador pirates. We believe the Chapman pirates have not been made the objects of Executive clemency yet. One of them, however supports the President's "policy," and will undoubtedly be pardoned.

"Look on this Picture, is it like—like Whom?"

J C Dow—whom nine or ten years ago we knew as one of the leading men of Minnesota—will be further [illegible] as Local Reporter of the Herald—Herald of Monday, Sometime in the year 1862, if the chronicle is not at fault, a sterling Democrat of a State which lies away toward her Britannic Majesty's American Possessions, and to the west of the great northern lakes resolved to quit his home for these shores. Having a soul which loathed oppression, he could not submit to the insulting tyranny of the Abolition Government. Rather than basely yield to the commands of the minions of despotism he prepared to bid adieu to those whose bounty had supported him, and having obtained through the munificence of his friends and his own inimitable address in the art of borrowing sufficient viaticum, he set out over the plains, an exile from—the draft. Alas! that one so innocent should be thus dispossessed of the comforts and charms of life by the cruel persecutions of a Government which was wickedly determined to beat down the weapons and bind the hands of the patriots of the South who were intent on taking its life and on blotting out its name from the record of the nations.

The curtain of oblivion must be drawn over the adventures and sufferings of our exile from the time he left his home in the State where the Father of Waters begins to gather his floods, until his arrival in Portland, Oregon. In October of the same year, namely, the year of grace one thousand eight hundred and sixty two, he reached the city which the enterprise of Oregon has builded. Being a Democrat of the old school he had an aristocratic abhorrence of labor, and therefore set himself about finding those to whom as a most faithful trencher friend, he might attach himself. His search was rewarded by the discovery of those who gave him shelter, provided him with raiment and supplied him with a limited amount of money. All that dreary winter did the lonely exile pine away about the bar rooms and lunch tables of this remote city. When the spring came on, our exiled hero, ready for adventure, embarked in a new enterprise, and one for which his Democratic education well fitted him. The "Jones fraternity" were at that time exceeding powerful in Portland, and through their kind assistance our exile went to San Francisco under an arrangement to ship on the Chapman, that noble craft whose crew were to seize a California steamer with her treasure, and, converting her into a powerful armed vessel, sweep the commerce of the Abolitionists from the Pacific ocean. But the minions of tyranny got wind of the whole affair, and as might have been expected, heartlessly checkmated the game.

Our lonely wanderer then had no alternative left him but to return to the southern part of the State of Missouri to aid Price and Quantrell in ridding that country of the hated Yankee invaders. Resolved was our exile to serve the holy cause of the South; therefore we next hear of his bearing a musket in company with that band of border State patriots who have been by the Abolitionists fiendishly called guerrillas. But he had not served long with Quantrell—probably no longer than the date of that chieftain's splendid victory at Lawrence—until he was made a prisoner by the Abolitionists. After being confined at Camp Lyon in the most tyrannous manner for some months, he was discharged with the cruel injunction never to go South of the Abolition line again. This destroyed all his hopes of serving his country, and he soon came out to Montana. He remained there but a short time, and once more visited Portland. His stay here was short, as those who had formerly been his friends pretended on his return to know him not. Accordingly he went to San Francisco, and remained in that city during the last winter. Not many weeks ago he left there, determined to return to Montana, but before he reached that Territory report has it that a Democratic newspaper engaged his services, and that he is now, as of yore, fighting against the Abolitionists, resolved not to give up the cause which he served so manfully in company with the Chapman rovers and the patriot Quantrell.

The above is the picture on which we a moment ago invited all who are interested to look. In the language of Cowper, we ask "Is it like—like whom?"

A Vote for James D. Fay.

A vote now for James D Fay is a vote in favor of abandoning the fruits of the late victory over disunionism, secession and treason, to the traitors themselves

A vote for James D Fay is a vote ratifying his treasonable declaration that "THE RIGHT OF SECESSION IS A DIVINE RIGHT"

A vote for James D Fay is a vote saying as he said that the late war on the part of the North, was "AN UNHOLY CRUSADE AGAINST THE NATURAL RIGHT OF SECESSION"

A vote for James D Fay is a vote declaring as he declared that the Union soldiers who carried on the war for the Union were "THIEVES AND MURDERERS."

A vote for James D. Fay is a vote declaring as he and the Democratic party declared, that the war was a "FAILURE."

A vote for James D. Fay is a vote in favor of admitting into Congress any unrepentant rebel who, may present himself with a certificate of election, without regard to what he may have done to destroy the Union, or what he may be in favor of doing hereafter

A vote for James D. Fay is a vote, practically, in praise of the men who opposed coercion who were in favor of letting the rebellious States "go in peace," and who sympathized with and assisted the rebels in every possible way.

A vote for James D. Fay is a vote ratifying the infamous copperhead record the last five years.

"Issues."

The Copperhead press of this State has a great deal to say about "issues" All the powers of the Democracy are employed in sophistically spreading before the people "issues" which never had an existence, nor ever will. Negro suffrage is not the question; negro equality being a social question, has nothing to do with a political campaign, and is therefore not an issue; the taxation of United States Bonds is not a subject for dispute since the whole question has been settled repeatedly by the Supreme Court. The main question is; SHALL THE MEN WHO ONE YEAR AGO WERE IN ARMS AGAINST THE REPUBLIC, NOW CONTROL THE GOVERNMENT AND MAKE ITS LAWS? This, we repeat, is the question, or issue, and we insist that it shall not be evaded or forgotten.

AN EXPLANATION WANTED —Early in 1861, M. H. Abbott, now editor of the Oregon Herald, published the following in the Democrat, at Pittsfield, Pike county, Illinois:

> Impressed with the conviction that our confederacy is on the eve of [illegible] and that all hope of Congress [illegible] for us, we feel it our right and our duty to utter to our fellow citizens such [illegible] as we are [illegible] SHALL FORM THE BASIS OF OUR FUTURE ACTION

What was this basis of future action? Let M. H. Abbott himself inform us. On the 17th of January, 1861, he published the following as his "basis":

> In the event of a dissolution of the United States, and the resumption of the powers delegated by the States to the United [illegible] it is of the [illegible] and most vital importance for the people of Illinois to consider the practicability and advantage of a Western Confederacy.

That is to say M. H. Abbott was in favor of Illinois declaring herself out of the Union. He did not doubt, as he tells us, that the States might withdraw. Will he tell us how to reconcile this with his late declarations in the Herald that the States have no 'right' to secede from the Union? Are the "eternal principles" of 'Democracy' so flexible as to be accommodated to both these propositions?

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY TICKET.—The Democrats of Multnomah county have nominated a ticket which, in the main, well represents the party. The [illegible] who [illegible] conspicuous for their opposition to the efforts of the Government in quelling the rebellion, and who are known here and elsewhere to be devoted firmly to the dogmas of the secession rebel Democracy. The candidates for the Legislature will if elected vote for no one but an approved sympathizer with the rebels for United States Senator. They will vote for no one who will not be willing to admit red handed rebels to seats in Congress. At least one of the candidates on this ticket is a person who has been formerly known as a Union man. If he can reconcile it to his conscience to go along with those whom he once denounced as vile traitors, the Union party we are sure, can stand it. The object of the Copperheads in nominating this gallimaufry ticket, was evidently to allure Union voters, but the decoy will prove a pitiable failure.

BAD DAY FOR DEMOCRATS —The New York World, the leading Democratic journal of the United States, speaking of Connecticut a short time previous to the recent election, said

> The election last year, when Buckingham rolled up a majority of 11 000, may be said to have gone by default. On the very day of the election, cannon were firing over the whole State for the fall of Richmond and Lee's surrender. Thousands of Democrats staid at home

So then, election day in 1865, was a bad day for Democrats. Lee had surrendered and "thousands of Democrats, utterly disheartened, staid at home," acknowledging that the cause they had contended for was gone. This candid confession of the World is direct proof from a leading Democratic witness of of the connection between the rebellion and the Democratic party. With the surrender of Lee, the World tells us his Northern friends surrendered, too

Our neighbor of the Herald has ceased to boast of being a Union man. We have proven him by his own record to be a SECESSIONIST of the most rabid and vile kind. His paper, which was formerly crowded with expressions of his devotion to the Union, has of late contained nothing of the kind. M H Abbott, editor of the Oregon Herald stands convicted before the community of having been a rebel in theory and a secessionist in fact equal to Vallandigham, Fernando Wood or John C Breckinridge

John H Taggart, Colonel of the Twelfth Regiment Pennsylvania Reserves has been dismissed from a Collectorship in Philadelphia to make room for Alfred Slinaker, a veteran of the Home Guard. This is rewarding the soldiers with a vengeance. But then Col Taggart don't support "my policy," and Slinaker does

"Reliable" Big Bend News.

NEW WESTMINSTER, May 7—Latest news from Big Bend mines to the 1st inst. New diggings have been struck on Clemens Creek. Nine dollars to the pan have been taken out. The snow is too soft on the mountains yet for packing with animals, and Indians had to be got to pack freight at 60 cents per pound. Great reduction in prices of provisions at the head of the lake in consequence and large amounts are arriving which it is impossible to get packed into the mines. Flour at Seymour, is worth 16 cts. In the mines 40 cts. Building is going on briskly at Seymour. Fourteen boats arrived at Gold Creek up the Columbia river in one day, with men and provisions. Hundreds of boats are reported on the way up the Columbia river with men and provisions.

The steamer Forty Niner had arrived at the head of Arrow Lake on the 18th ult, with 250 miners. The passengers landed and the boat returned for more miners.

Claim 'State,' on Clemens Creek is said to be worth ten thousand dollars

The Hudson's Bay Co's steamer Marten is expected to be launched on the 10th inst

There are rumors that the United States soldiers at Fort Colville had deserted and gone to the mines, taking their arms with them

Since the above forty more boats have arrived at the mines. Two new gold bearing creeks tributaries of French Creek have been discovered. The great confidence in these mines is now felt here

THE TEMPER OF CONGRESS —Theodore Tilton's testimony as to the temper of Congress, and some of the eminent men from Washington is valuable and we give the pith of it in the following extract:

The governing majorities in both Houses entertain a profound conviction that however readily they might otherwise be disposed to gratify a Presidential idiosyncrasy by gracefully yielding to Johnson on a question involving no compromise of principle they have no right, either in the present case or any other like it, to subordinate the legislative functions of the Government to Executive usurpation. This conviction, as any careful observer here cannot fail to perceive is as firm and immovable as the corner stone of the Capitol. "I will be burnt at the stake," said a Western Senator, "rather than be a party to such an overthrow of the American system." "To surrender this point," said a leading member of the lower House, "would leave us under a monarchy, and the President might as well be crowned a king." "I hold" said a Cabinet Minister, "that the President, as a counterpart to his present position might just as well claim for himself the functions of the Supreme Court." Not less than forty members of the two houses have spoken in my hearing similar utterances, which if not as strong in language as these were just as strong in meaning. Nor were these remarks made in anger or impatience but with the calmness of settled conviction and with the courage of assured victory. And this invincible determination of both houses derives additional strength from the unusual intellectual and moral quality of the present Congress. One of the Democratic side of the lower House said to me frankly: 'I have never witnessed so much ability and integrity in any party of any Congress as on the present Republican side.' I happened to say to Chief Justice Chase, 'No Congress ever more signally received the approval of the people.' To which he instantly replied, 'And none ever more signally deserved it.'

ST LOUIS ALARMED —We notice the following in the St Louis Republican of March 31st:

> With Chicago on the east energetically adopting means to divert away from St. Louis much of the trade that naturally belongs to it we have now a growing rival [illegible] in the west threatening to take advantage of the apathy of our capitalists and business men and while they are dozing away to seize the vast trade which the rapidly growing Territories would otherwise pour into our lap. We notice in the San Francisco Bulletin of the [illegible] ultimo the report of a committee appointed to confer with the citizens of Portland Oregon relative to a route via the Columbia to Helena, Montana from which it appears that only sixty miles of [illegible] are necessary to bring San Francisco in communication by steam and stage with Helena in ten days while freight can be got through in thirty days, at fifteen cents per pound. The people of Portland have examined the proposed route [illegible] are ready to raise money enough in conjunction with the business men of San Francisco [illegible] sixty [illegible] with this brief and significant paragraph which should [illegible] those among us whose eyes have been turned to the rich harvest between Missouri and the Pacific which either St. Louis or San Francisco must soon gather. [illegible] the greater part of the gold dust as well as the trade of Montana will be diverted from St. Louis to San Francisco. Therefore we recommend the immediate raising of money for the [illegible] purpose
> The danger is imminent and to avoid it we must be up and doing

RAYMOND OF THE NEW YORK TIMES —The Pittsburg Gazette says: "Just before Henry J Raymond went on to Washington, at the opening of the present session of Congress, he said to an eminent statesman no longer in public service 'we are sold. It is always our fate to be sold upon the death of the incumbent of the White House. But I see no other way but to follow the President.' Such was Raymond's judgment of the situation and thus is explained the enigma of his conduct. That the Union party is 'sold' seems to be plain enough, but how Raymond can excuse his betrayal of it by pleading the example of the President is a point far enough from being clear."

A UNIVERSAL REMEDY — BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES for Coughs, Colds and Bronchial Affections, now stands the first in public favor and confidence; this result has been acquired by a test of many years. Its merits and extensive use have caused the Troches to be counterfeited and we would caution purchasers to be on their guard against worthless imitations.

To Persons whose Health is Broken Down.—Every disease might unquestionably be prevented if nature were assisted to rally with that most wonderful of all invigorators,

DR HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

When the flame of life wanes and quivers from exhaustion, administer this famous restorative. It will once more become steady and strong. In the debility which follows violent fever; in diarrhea, dysentery, dyspeptic complaints and cholic; in the weakness consequent upon natural decay, or resulting from free living or over exertion and also in those painful and too much neglected ailments to which ladies are exclusively subject the Bitters never fail to give permanent relief. LA GRANDE.—We are highly pleased to learn from Mr. [illegible], a citizen of La Grande, an embryo city, located near the cliffs at the east side of the old Blue mountains, in Grand Ronde Valley, the garden spot of Eastern Oregon—that the town is fast putting on the air of a permanent place. The town has been recently incorporated, and the Council are doing very much to improve the streets, lay down side-walks, regulate Sanitary [illegible], etc. The corporation is governed by a board of [illegible], the following gentlemen being at present the guardians of the public interests: Messrs Wm. Cottle, D. [illegible], J. T. McComas, J. L. Morrow, M. Baker [illegible] Hirschreich. Mr. R. H. Mallory was elected [illegible] of the Council at the time of the election of the [illegible]. It being a rather difficult matter to get insurance at La Grande, the citizens have a well organized [illegible], comprising a Hook and Ladder Company, [illegible] Bucket Company, and Mr. R. has with him funds [illegible] of a fire bell for the department. A new [illegible] is now nearly completed, which will be a credit to the place, and a new public school house will be built the present season, $1,000 having already been appropriated for that purpose. This last edifice is expected to be equal to any public school house in the State at present, [illegible] those of Portland. There are three flouring mills in Grand Ronde Valley, one at La Grande, one at [illegible] and one at Summerville. These mills when built last fall and winter, it was not expected would be able to find sufficient employment, owing to the supposed inability of [illegible] to supply them with business, but the contrary has been learned. There has been but little intermission in any of them since they were started, and thousands of bushels of grain have been ground, and yet there is a supply that will keep them busy until the coming harvest, which promises to be an unusually large one, as [illegible] of acres have been seeded. Our informant is very [illegible] that the grain crop of the present season in the valley will amount to 1,000,000 bushels. In the article of bacon, the farmers of Grand Ronde are also stepping to the front. [illegible] first attempt to raise bacon last year netted them [illegible] 250,000 pounds. The principal portion of the inhabitants there are sterling Union men, and of a degree of respectability that would do much older communities credit. The travel to Blackfoot, we are informed, has in a considerable degree set in the direction of [illegible], via La Grande, following the stage route up [illegible] river, connecting with the route from Salt Lake City to Helena. The celebrated "Ladd's Hill" at the [illegible] of the valley has been greatly improved by the [illegible] La Grande, and being practicable, they claim [illegible] shorter route to points east of them [illegible] be had before. The mining interests of [illegible] Creek district are very promising. Mr. [illegible], President of the La Grande Company, which [illegible] valuable interests in Eagle Creek, will arrange [illegible] to develop the Company's ledges before [illegible] this time there are three mills in operation [illegible] and it is expected that at least a [illegible] will work there before the close of the season. [illegible] one of the camps—recently "cleaned up" [illegible] run of ten days. There are ledges in [illegible] which have been [illegible] time and again, that [illegible] of $4,000 to the ton. Taken all in all, we [illegible] reason to expect much from Union [illegible] that it will eventually be the banner [illegible] State, both as regards the productions of [illegible] and the mines.

FOR THE NATIONAL BANK.—The First National [illegible] Oregon, opened today under a very [illegible] of business. The Bank is located on [illegible] Carter's block, and is very conveniently [illegible] W. Starr, an old-time resident of our [illegible] of the country, and our friend Mr. Jas. [illegible] favorably known to the people of Portland. The Directors of the Bank are Messrs. [illegible] H. W. Eddy, B. Goldsmith, [illegible] The [illegible] for Banking, in all [illegible] such as buying and selling exchange, receiving deposits, etc., will be [illegible] of the First National Bank, and this [illegible] of the business of our city, giving it [illegible] of the metropolis. The capital of the First National Bank is secured by a deposit of United States [illegible] and probably soon it [illegible] We have [illegible] Front street in addition to the old established [illegible] two similar institutions [illegible] of British Columbia and the National Bank [illegible] would be a credit to any place, and besides the Wells, Fargo & Co. are engaged largely in the [illegible] so that now our city appears to be very well [illegible]. We hope they may all do well, and that the [illegible]

[illegible] CUTTER.—[illegible] the steam Revenue Cutter Lincoln yesterday [illegible] surprised to find such clean [illegible], bright armament, etc., as was found [illegible] that whatever "Uncle Sam" [illegible] The [illegible] that English [illegible] of this character, [illegible] of the United States, is liable to [illegible] the property of the Government. [illegible] established a system of discipline on [illegible] port, which carries a good effect [illegible] of the United States. The [illegible] Lincoln was witnessed yesterday [illegible] by the few visitors who [illegible]

[illegible] We wish to urge [illegible] of the various road districts [illegible] the improvement of the roads under their control. [illegible] is the time to do this work, and the [illegible] they [illegible] now being [illegible] for some time. [illegible] While all the branches of [illegible] in our [illegible] the past few years, nothing [illegible] has been done tending to give [illegible] a better opportunity to improve of [illegible] during winter in this city, and even at the [illegible] as late as it is in the season, the [illegible] the [illegible] of this market [illegible] coming to town to do the ordinary trading for [illegible]. We sincerely trust that something may be [illegible] to bring about a better state of things in this [illegible] the two [illegible] our merchants and the agri[illegible] are very much dependent upon one [illegible] and surely the issue for furthering their interests [illegible] not much longer be neglected.

[illegible] IMPORTS.—The imports to the port of Victoria [illegible] April 30th, 1866, foot as follows:

[illegible] Francisco	$71,010
[illegible] Puget Sound	14,219
[illegible]	[illegible]
San Juan	[illegible]

[illegible] show but a small amount of business with [illegible]. The fact of their taxing duties on imports from [illegible] would lead to the inference that the British [illegible] abandoned the joint occupation of that [illegible], and that really it was conceded to be American [illegible]

[illegible] COUNTY CONVENTION.—At the Democratic County Convention held in this city yesterday, the following nominations were made: For Senators, Wm. [illegible] and L. F. Grover; for Representatives, A. P. Dennison, [illegible] J. Ladd, S. Friedenrich, R. B. Wilson; Sheriff, Al. [illegible]; County Judge, J. Catlin; Treasurer, John [illegible]; Assessor, Robert Bybee; Clerk, R. R. McGrain; Commissioners, John Stevenson and [illegible] Buckton; Surveyor, R. Hallock; School Superintendent, B. Corne[illegible]; Coroner, D. Rowley.

UNITED STATES COURTS.—The Circuit Court of the United States for the District of Oregon, Judge M. P. Deady, met in this city yesterday. In the case of the [illegible] A. M. Burns, M. Brasher and others, [illegible] of the Revenue laws, motions to [illegible] were continued until the next term. In [illegible] et al., an interlocutory order [illegible] referring the matter to Commissioner Wilcox, [illegible] instructed to report. The District Court will [illegible]

[illegible]—Messrs. Terry & Foster, two of [illegible] enterprising citizens, young men, have established [illegible] in the Brokerage business at No. 80 Front [illegible], corner of Washington. They propose doing a general real estate and collection business, and will purchase [illegible] stocks, bonds, Government securities, etc. They are both gentlemen of clear minds, [illegible] and we predict will be able to give [illegible] to all parties with whom they may [illegible]

[illegible] MONEY RECOVERED.—The Bulletin of [illegible] has the following: "[illegible] has recovered $500 more of the money stolen from [illegible] Adams of Astoria. It was given to Thos. [illegible] on board the Oregon by Lambert, [illegible] that if he (Rogers) would keep mum the thief [illegible] some of it. Rogers went to Panama on [illegible] steamer with Lambert, and was arrested on his [illegible] when he immediately owned up and produced [illegible] of the hush money."

[illegible] BOARDING HOUSE.—The old wharf boat, which [illegible] remained at her moorings, foot of Taylor [illegible] without any apparent use, has been removed, and [illegible] be fitted up as a boarding house, to be taken to the [illegible] below this city, for the use of the [illegible] workmen employed there in getting out material for the building and street improvements of the city.

TROUT FISHING.—Some of our friends have been unusually [illegible] ful in fishing for speckled beauties the past few days. Fish bite greedily now, and twenty-two fine [illegible] ones is an average catch for an hour's sport. The "best places" are only known to a few.

[illegible]—We learn that Mr. E. A. Temple, of Vancouver, at present clerk in the Quartermaster Department, [illegible] to leave for the East by the next steamer from Portland.

THE [illegible] FERRY.—This new propeller was yesterday taken to the Willamette Iron Works for the purpose of [illegible] her machinery, and will, in a few days at most, be ready for business.

BACON.—We saw a large lot of bacon from the interior being unloaded at one of the principal [illegible] houses on Front street, and learned that the prices realized by the producer ranged from 19 to 20 cents per pound.

COUNTY COURT.—The County Court, Judge [illegible] presiding, met yesterday. No business of importance was [illegible], and Court will meet at 10 o'clock A. M. to-day.

REAL ESTATE.—We wish to call attention to the special [illegible] of [illegible] in these columns, [illegible] sales of real estate.

AT PORTLAND.—A private dispatch from Washington city states that Gen. Steele's headquarters have been fixed at Portland.

PINE STREET.—Workmen yesterday commenced the [illegible] of Pine street, but whether permanently, [illegible] we are not advised.

Protection No. 2.—Drill this evening at 7 o'clock.
By order of the Foreman. B. HANSCHOCH, Sec'y.

MATCHES.—Our local match factories are doing a good business now-a-days, and have almost succeeded in driving importations from the market. A sample of the Vancouver factory was exhibited to us yesterday for inspection, which we are free to express the belief are a better quality than any ever brought to this market from abroad. The tax on matches is a detriment to the manufacturer, but we think even with this disadvantage they will continue to carry on the business successfully. An ordinary case of matches containing from 21,000 to 25,000 single matches, in small packages, the tax on which is about $2.[illegible], and the market price is but a trifle more than $3.00. We hope our friends of the support of home industry will patronize the local factories.

PROF. TOFT IN EUROPE.—The London Illustrated News of February 17th, publishes two fine views of Oregon scenery, sketched by Mr. Peter Toft, who visited this region of country last year on a professional tour. One of the views represents the Cascades of the Columbia, with the improvements of the O. S. N. Company, and the other is a representation of Mt. St. Helens and the Columbia river.

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

READ AND REFLECT.

Make sure of HEALTH. "But how?" you ask;
We answer, 'tis an easy task,
Strengthen the STOMACH, and sustain
The NERVES, the servants of the brain.
The LIVER keep in active play,
And regulate, from day to day,
Each organ aid, on Nature's plan;
Brace and refresh the INNER MAN;
And like a watch that's kept in time,
By constant care, with railroad time,
The system's tone and strength renew,
And thereby cheer the spirits, too.
"How," you inquire, "can this be done?
This Victory o'er Disease be won?"
[illegible] reply—
Is HEALTH'S SUPREME PROTECTION—TRY!

As a means of regenerating the disordered and enfeebled system, regulating every function of the internal organs, reviving the depressed spirits, invigorating the constitution, and prolonging life, no medicinal preparation, either of the past or the present time, has been so completely and universally successful as

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Against the vapors foul prepare,
That fever-taint the heavy air,
Drink not unmixed the water found
In prairies, woods or marshy ground.
If sedentary toil you ply,
Nature you must assist—or die—
For when debarred from exercise
For artificial aid she cries.
Medicine's grand purpose and intent
Is threatened evil to prevent:
And if you'd be relieved or spared
From ills that crush the unprepared,
Hostetter's Bitters use—for these
They are the SUREST ANTIDOTE.

To set at defiance the miasma of unhealthy soils, the poison of unwholesome water, the effluvia of crowded work-rooms and factories, and the baneful influence of sedentary employments, it is only necessary to be forearmed with

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Dyspepsia's pangs, that rack and grind
The body, and depress the mind;
Agues, that as they go and come,
Make life a constant martyrdom;
Colics and dysenteric pains,
Beneath which the strong man's vigor wanes;
Bilious complaints, those tedious ills,
Ne'er conquered yet by drastic pills;
Dread diarrhoea that cannot be
Cured by destructive mercury;
Slow constitutional decay
That brings Death nearer, day by day;
Nervous prostration, mental gloom—
Heralds of madness or the tomb;
For these—though mineral nostrums fail—
Means of Relief at least we hail,
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS medicine sure,
Not to prevent, alone, but cure.

In dyspepsia, fever and ague, bilious complaints, constitutional and nervous debility, constipation, sea-sickness, spasms, and in all complaints of Man or Woman, proceeding from casual or inherent weakness of the body, the one great remedy and restorative is

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

To wanderers on sea or land,
From Polar shore to Tropic strand;
To households lone, in regions new,
And dwellers in great cities, too;
To soldiers in camp, fort and field,
Who need against disease a shield;
To miners, California bound,
And tillers of wet, marshy ground;
To feeble wives of fragile mold,
To young and middle-aged, and old;
To those in health, who would enjoy
Heaven's best gifts without alloy;
To all the strengthless, weak and pale,
Who droop, yet know not what they ail,
Hostetter's Bitters we present
As Health's most potent element.

If there is any value in public opinion, or any weight in medical testimony, the very best and safest Tonic, Corrective and Alterative now before the world is

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.
Sold by respectable druggists in all parts of the world.

S. T.—1860.—X.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try the celebrated

PLANTATION BITTERS,

Which are now recommended by the highest medical authorities, and warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure, and must supercede all other tonics where a healthy, gentle stimulant is required.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.

They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars, see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.

Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. Stamp unmutilated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in bulk, is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

M. HOWARD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE,

315 Montgomery St., San Francisco.

THE ABOVE PREPARATION, WHICH HAS BEEN recently discovered and patented, is purely a Vegetable Extract.

The undersigned are fully aware of the many unsatisfactory and useless preparations for restoring hair that have been introduced to the public, and how little confidence is to be placed in any pretensions to restoring the hair to bald heads, but having tried MR. HOWARD'S PREPARATION, we are able to state that it not only prevents the hair from falling out, but absolutely reproduces it, and that we now have good suits of hair growing where we were entirely bald. Therefore, as a matter of justice to Mr. Howard, and of consolation to bald heads, we tender him this testimonial. Mr. H. keeps the article for sale in bottles with directions for its use, or applies it himself, as may be [illegible].

The Voice of Spring.

'Tis whispered by the ocean breeze, and murmured [illegible]
'Tis echoed o'er the mountain tops, and wafted through the [illegible]
'Tis heard among the silent groves for gentle zephyr [illegible]
To every forest, dale and glen the welcome voice of Spring.

The gushing rills from icy chains and snowy [illegible] free
Are murmuring in happy strains their grateful praise [illegible]
While Nature wakes at the sound, makes every wood to ring,
And every winged [illegible] note proclaims the voice of Spring.

[illegible] the [illegible] springs, and wakes from winter's [illegible]
The blue-bell hangs its drooping head, as if for joy to weep
To hear the breeze so softly blow, the wood so gaily sing
Its happy welcome to the sweet and gentle voice of Spring.

Then haste thee hither, gentle Spring, and visit once again
The woods and fields that long to greet thy mild and fruitful reign;
And with thy breezes melt the grasp of Winter's icy king,
That every flower on which they blow may bless the voice of Spring.

The violet scents thy blooming path and gaily dots the ground,
For Nature loves to deck thy way, and strews her bounties round,
Then quickly come, thou may'st not stay and all thy pleasures bring,
And every clime that hears the sound will love the voice of Spring.

Speech of Governor Gibbs.

DELIVERED AT [illegible] GROVE, APRIL 30, 1866.

Fellow Citizens:—Our Government is based upon the idea that man is capable of self-government, and that the people of the United States possess the necessary mental and moral qualifications to maintain a republican form of government. The first resolution of our platform reads as follows:

Resolved, 1st, That we have an abiding confidence in the justice, intelligence and patriotism of the people of the United States, that they have the firmness and wisdom to preserve the Union their valor has sustained.

I do not expect to convince secessionists or those who are in favor of a monarchy, that they ought to support the Union ticket. If such persons have not seen enough of our form of government or of its growth, power and progress, to like it, nothing that I can say in the time allotted to me this evening will convince them. But any reflecting, Union loving man, who is at all familiar with the history of the country, ought to see that the salvation of our Republic depends upon the success of the Union party. By it Jeff Davis has been incarcerated at Fortress Monroe, and his horde of traitors disarmed and disbanded. The late wicked rebellion was conceived, inaugurated and carried on by Democrats. It was a Democratic war. Many years ago John C. Calhoun said to Commodore Charles Stewart:

"I admit your conclusions in regard to us Southrons. That we are essentially aristocratic, I cannot deny. But we can and do yield much to Democracy. This is our sectional policy. We are from necessity thrown upon and wedded to that party, however it may occasionally clash with our feelings, for the conservation of our interests. It is through our affiliation with that party in the middle and western States, that we hold power. But when we cease thus to control this nation through a disjointed Democracy, or any material obstacle in that party which shall tend to throw us out of that rule and control, we shall then resort to the dissolution of the Union."

The doctrine of State rights was interpreted by the Democracy of the South to mean State sovereignty—a power above and independent of the General Government; while in the North, the land of free schools, free speech and freedom of the press, State rights was understood in a widely different way. For years the Democracy in conventions resolved in favor of "State rights," and the leaders of the party encouraged the former interpretation of the phrase.

In 1832, South Carolina, under the advice and direction of John C. Calhoun, one of the leaders of the Democratic party, acted on this construction of "State rights" by passing an ordinance nullifying the acts of Congress. President Jackson sent Gen. Scott down there with an army. Calhoun and his friends found that State sovereignty had not yet a sufficient spot to stand, and the nullification ordinance was hastily repealed. But the leaders of the Democratic party in the South—and by-the-by, they led the party everywhere—did not give up the doctrine of State sovereignty, but continued to resolve in favor of "State rights." They went among the musty records of the past, where the repudiated Kentucky and Virginia resolutions of 1798 had been buried after repudiation by every other State in the Union, and dug them up. For the purpose of preparing the way for secession at some future time, they were warmed into life and became a part of the national Democratic platforms as "standing matter." These resolutions declared, that the Constitution of the United States was a compact, and "that, as in other cases of compact between parties having no common judge, each party has an equal right to judge for itself, as well of infractions as of the mode and measure of redress." They were adopted for the same purpose that the doctrine of State rights was misinterpreted and kept before the people.

After putting down secession in 1832, Gen. Jackson predicted that the next effort to destroy the Government would be made over the slavery question. Yet the Democratic party clung to the relic of barbarism with a zeal worthy of a better cause, and tried to nationalize it, while by degrees the heresies of State sovereignty and nullification were being instilled into the minds of the people by the Democratic party. Their leaders were telling the people even in Oregon that if the Democratic party did not triumph, the Union would be dissolved; that a "sectional" President—meaning an anti-slavery man, would not be permitted peaceably to serve out his term. I read from a resolution in the platform of the late Democratic State Convention of New Jersey to show how this [illegible] party was as to this secession policy, and how [illegible] the threat was made [illegible]

"Resolved, That the late fratricidal war is chargeable to the abolitionists of the North [illegible] in their refusing to heed the wise counsels of the Democracy, who long ago predicted that the election of a sectional candidate upon sectional principles would be the forerunner of a civil war."

True to the prophecy of General Jackson, and the threat of Calhoun, and the warnings of Democrats heretofore alluded to, when Abraham Lincoln, that great and good man was elected President, the democracy inaugurated civil war and attempted to overthrow and destroy the best government in the world.

Stephen A. Douglas was [illegible] at the Charleston Convention. Did the [illegible] of the party support him? No, he [illegible] the modern school of [illegible] of the [illegible] stripe. They ignored him [illegible] vote for one of the most [illegible] John C. Breckinridge. [illegible] into the rebel army.

"I am utterly [illegible] the government, or any [illegible] I degree tends in that direction. For one, I [illegible] consent that peace shall be made until the [illegible] the enemies of our liberty shall be [illegible] from our hallowed soil, but from [illegible] which by its geographical position [illegible] belongs to the South."

In justice I [illegible] voted for him without knowing his real sentiments, or the diabolical purposes of the leaders of the party.

After Breckinridge went to help Southern States out of the Union, Gov. Lane sent his son John into the rebel army, and came to the Pacific States in company with Dr. Gwin on a similar mission. For that purpose 90,000 stand of arms had been sent here by Floyd, who was then Secretary of War. The war was commenced in January, 1861, by the firing into the Star of the West as it was entering Charleston harbor with supplies for the gallant Major Anderson and his brave soldiers. The chivalry of South Carolina had refused to furnish any more supplies, and the garrison was in a starving condition.

James Buchanan was still President, and notwithstanding seven States went out of the Union—public property was stolen, forts taken possession of and the flag of the United States set at nought, he was so imbued with the spirit of modern democracy that he never raised his finger against it. How unlike the spirit of Democracy in Jackson's time! All this was done by Democrats during the latter part of the last Democratic Administration, which to say the least, winked at it, and beyond question many members of the Cabinet did all they could to encourage it. A majority of the Democratic Senators did the same thing. Does that not show that this was a Democratic war.

In April, 1861, Fort Sumpter fell and our flag was trailed in the dust. Not a man who voted for Lincoln had been engaged in this treasonable work of destruction. Up to this time, not one of them had raised his hands against the traitors. Notwithstanding the many misrepresentations of the Democratic press, it is apparent to the casual observer, that war was not inaugurated or caused by the people of the North.

With one-third of the population, the South has had a majority of the offices of honor and emolument, since the establishment of the Government. They asked for the Missouri Compromise of 1820, and they got it. They demanded a fugitive slave law, and it was granted, and as well executed at the breaking out of the rebellion as it ever had been. They asked for the repeal of the Missouri Compromise and the passage of the Kansas-Nebraska act, and their wishes were gratified. By whose fault then has been all this shedding of blood and desolation? Let the Sage of Ashland, Henry Clay, speak:

"If any one State, or any portion of [illegible] of any State, choose to place themselves in array against the Government of the Union, I am for trying the strength of this Government. I am for ascertaining whether we have a Government or not—practicable, efficient, capable of maintaining its authority and upholding the powers and interests which belong to a Government. Nor, sir, am I to be alarmed or dissuaded from any such course by intimations of the spilling of blood. If blood is to be spilt, by whose fault is it to be spilt? Upon the supposition I maintain, it will be the fault of those who choose to raise the standard of disunion and endeavor to prostrate the [illegible] government, and sir, when that is done, so long as it [illegible] God to give me a voice to express my sentiments, [illegible] weak and feeble as it may be by age, that [illegible] shall be on the side of my [illegible] of the [illegible] and the general authority and [illegible] powers of the Union." [Speech of Henry Clay, August [illegible] 1850.]

What then, let [illegible] was the duty of Union loving men at the breaking out of the rebellion, of whatever party.

The Douglas wing was driven off from the Democratic party and stood before the country under the teachings of State sovereignty and the resolutions of 1798-9, controlled by [illegible] In their platform of this State they profess to have regard for Mr. Douglas, though not a Douglas man has been nominated and never will be, if the secession element, which is the controlling one, can prevent it. In his last speech, Mr. Douglas said:

"Now permit me to say to the assembled Representatives and Senators of my beloved State composed of men of both political parties, in my opinion it is your duty to lay aside for the time being, your party creeds and party platforms to dispense with your party organizations and partisan appeals to forget that you ever were divided."

Again among his last words was this noble declaration:

"He who is not prepared to sacrifice party platforms and party obligations upon the altar of his country, does not deserve the confidence and respect of honest men."

Did the Democratic party take advice of the patriotic little giant? Very far from it so far as those who now claim the name are concerned. They kept up the party organization under the leadership of such men as Bayard, Vallandigham, Voorhees, Saulsbury, Bright, O'Meara and Fay, who bitterly opposed the war and never voted a man or a dollar to put down the rebel traitors that were threatening the capital of the nation over the dome of which they boasted that they would fly their secession flag.

But be it said to the honor of such real democrats of the Jefferson and Jackson school as Dix, Dickinson, Tod, Brough, Butler, Hallett, Walker, Williams, Grant, Hooker, Sherman, Sheridan and thousands more, that they [illegible] the country in its darkest hours and supported the great national Union party. Here they will be ever found [illegible] against modern secession democracy [illegible] [illegible] the position Mr. Jefferson [illegible] [illegible] 1810. A strict observance of the written laws is [illegible] one of the highest duties of a good citizen, but it is not the highest. The laws of [illegible] of self preservation, of saving our country when in danger, are of higher obligation. To lose our country by a scrupulous adherence to written law would be to lose the law itself with life, liberty, property and all those who are enjoying them with us, thus absurdly sacrificing the end to the means."

Now the democratic party would have us forget their record—drive us away from the true issues and divide us up on the Johnson Congress controversy, suffrage or some minor questions. It is not so now as when Mr. Douglas said [illegible] "there can be but two parties—the Union party [illegible] the Union men and traitors." Every [illegible] support [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] but what [illegible] [illegible] be War and subjugation."

[illegible] plank in their platform was one in favor of peace and the immediate cessation of hostilities [illegible] [illegible] the South [illegible] in the hands of our enemies who would have so [illegible] the North and destroyed the Government. [illegible] may be easily obtained by reference to speeches made by [illegible] of the Chicago [illegible] for those they were assembled.

Vallandigham said: "Such governments like ours are [illegible] [illegible] depending only on the [illegible] of law and public opinion. This is the only [illegible] rightfully exercised in a government founded like ours on the consent of the governed." Was there ever a greater heresy uttered by the mouth of man? [illegible] is the foundation of society regulated by law, and a law is worth nothing without a penalty. Yet the Democratic party of Ohio nominated this traitor for their governor.

Fernando Wood said: "Now my friends we have had war, we have had a [illegible], desolation and damnation [loud cheers]. Now we propose to apply the remedy—to administer the antidote—peace, we call for peace!" A dishonorable peace of course, one that could be obtained without fighting for it till the rebels laid down their arms.

J. A. McMasters said: "A man who is in favor of this unholy war, insults the holy name of Democracy when he claims a place in its organization. He is a Judas and should be cast out as an enemy to humanity and to God. War and blood and rapine and murder is the legitimate business of the Lincoln Union. We want our hands clean of all participation in it."

S. S. Cox said: "We did not want to use any harsh language towards old Abe, (Cries of 'give it to him.') He had attempted in his own city a few days since to show in a very quiet way, that Abraham Lincoln had deluged the country with blood, created a debt of four thousand millions of dollars, sacrificed two millions of human lives, and filled the land with grief and mourning."

"A plain man who had listened attentively to his remarks, sang out 'God damn him.'"

"He did not agree with his pious friend. He hoped God would have mercy on Abraham Lincoln, but at the November election the people would damn him to immortal infamy. (Tumultuous cheering)."

"One of our friends, Judge Hall, had been arrested in Missouri, a short time since because he happened to say that Jefferson Davis was no greater traitor to the Constitution than Lincoln. He, (the speaker) would say it boldly; let them arrest him. (Cheers and cries) They dare not."

"The speaker concluded by recapitulating the infamous actions of the President, showed how he had exercised fraud to overthrow the defeat the purpose of honest people and [illegible] Republicans, Wade and Davis, not Democrats were his accusers. He pictured the people firm in their determination to remove the despot from the place which he was unfit to fill. [illegible] for less offenses than Mr. Lincoln had been guilty of the English people had chopped off the head of the first Charles. He [illegible] Lincoln and Davis ought to be brought to the same block together. The other day they arrested a friend of his, a member of Congress from Ohio, for saying in private conversation that Lincoln was no better than Jeff. Davis. He was ready to say the same now, here in Chicago. Let the minions of the administration object, if they dare."

Mr. Stambaugh, a delegate from Ohio, said: "That if he was called upon to choose between the freedom of the nigger and disunion and separation, he would choose the latter. [illegible] bayonets and cannon, and above all, negro emancipation, almost [illegible] permanent [illegible]. His plan for the solution of these difficulties was an armistice and an arrangement for a joint convention in which to talk over and arrange all family grievances. He was certain that in Ohio, the entire community were in favor of peace. [illegible] One reason why the Democrats should support the candidate of the convention, whoever he might be, was, that they might search hell over and they could not find a worse President than Abraham Lincoln. When this war is over he would not give a pinch of snuff for the $-40's and 10-40's now hoarded up by the rich."

Thus he was in favor of repudiation and preferred disunion to the war.

Judge Alexander of Kentucky said: "They had tried bayonets and failed; they would now try the ballot, because with it, they could drive out Lincoln and his minions."

Col. Carr said with reference to Buchanan and Lincoln: "That it was not the first time a King had been deposed and a fool put in his place. In former times Kings had kept fools to keep from worrying, but this was the first country that had elected a fool to reign over it." [Cheers and laughter.]

[illegible] Trainor, President of the Ohio Democratic State Convention in 1862, said, "He would urge the people to be fearless and hurl Abraham Lincoln and his minions from power. There is no difference between a war Democrat and an Abolitionist.—They are links in the same sausage, made out of the same dog." [Laughter and applause.]

That is what the Democratic Convention of Oregon thought otherwise they should have nominated J. S. Smith instead of Fay.

Allen Wm. Reed, of Indiana, advised open and above board resistance to the draft. "If Lincoln and his satraps attempted to enforce it blood would flow in our streets, and it would be right it should flow. Lincoln was already damned to eternity, and he did not know if even this iniquitous measure would materially affect the estimation in which the people held him. He had taken considerable pains to inform himself of the opinion of the people in relation to this draft, and he found it altogether condemned. There was but one opinion in this matter, and that was that if the draft was not enforced there would be peace. Mr. Lincoln had tried war for three years, but had slain our people by countless thousands, and blood enough had been shed to float the largest ship in the world. He said we might as well make up our minds to the fact that it was impossible to whip the South, and then asked would the people consent that their best and noblest men should be swept down by the relentless conscript law? No, a thousand times no was his answer. He further continued his inflammatory appeals concerning the draft, and advised open and unconcealed resistance to its enforcement.

He advised his hearers to shoot down those who would enforce the draft; to insist upon the right of the writ of habeas corpus, to resist to the bitter end the attempt to make the military power superior to the civil, and to openly arm themselves that they might be prepared for horrible contingencies.

"Hon. Wm. Bigler, Buchanan's shadow and the defender of the rights of the rebellion, and an anti-coercionist in the Senate of 1860, was nominated temporary chairman of this National Democratic Convention, and said:

"The termination of Democratic rule in this country was the end of peaceful relations between the States and the people."

That is, what Calhoun predicted and directed is what had been time and again threatened by the Democracy as evidenced by the New Jersey resolutions above referred to. In other words, when the Democratic party, though grown so sectional that it could hardly carry a single free State, still when it carried the general election, the Republicans submitted; but when the Democratic party was beaten, it rebelled and went in for a free fight. In every State which it controlled. Well may Democrats boast that with the rest of their power and their people, which they themselves [illegible] their overthrow a cause of rebellion, while their leaders have been giving aid and comfort ever since. I wish to briefly quote from a few more speeches made on this occasion.

Hon W. W. O'Brien said: "But we have men who call themselves 'War Democrats' men who, for the sake of power, place or pelf, went into the business of murders and, staining their hands in fraternal blood, they hold them up to you all dripping in gore, and say, 'Behold my loyalty.' They are not Democrats, they are Abolitionists and this fall we will bury them in the same grave with the Abolitionists, and damn them to eternal infamy." [Cheers.]

Such was to be the fate of Hooker, Burnside, Slocum, Sherman, McDowell, Steele, Halleck, Stanton, "Beast" Butler and "Butcher" Grant. Fall came, but did you ever hear of the funeral or burial of any of these men?

Van Allen said: "The great mistake was that the Democracy did not resist the war from the beginning. She would now retrace her steps and finally triumph. He would not have a candidate with the smell of war on his garments."

C. Chauncy, a prominent New York Democrat, and editor of the Old Guard, which was the organ of the treasonable secret society by that name, (known here as the 'Jones family,') said: "Two millions of men had been sent down to the slaughter pens of the South, and the army of Lincoln could not again be filled, neither by enlistment nor conscription. If he ever uttered a prayer it was that not one of the States of the United should be conquered and subjugated. The South could not be conquered, and he prayed God that they never might be. The Democratic party was for peace. Their representatives had come to Chicago to nominate a candidate for the Presidency. He would be nominated on a peace platform, and they could not succeed on any other. If any other platform was adopted they deserved to be defeated."

He spoke in this strain for half an hour, and was repeatedly and vociferously applauded.

Capt. Koontz of Pittsburg, one of the leaders of the Democratic party, and an ardent McClellanite, thus reflected the sentiments of his Democratic brethren. The speech like some of the foregoing, is evidence that if the doubt of speech was suppressed by President Lincoln [illegible]

"Lincoln is now played out, the opposition to him is going to be bold and powerful. There must be no more bootlicking, work and follow democrats. If Lincoln's body satrap spies come among you you must cut their d—d throats that's all. [Applause.] Shall more wives be made widows, and more children fatherless? If not we must put our foot upon the tyrant's neck and destroy it. The Democratic have not got [illegible] to power, and Lincoln with his Cabinet of rogues, thieves and spies be driven to death [illegible]. What shall we do with him? [A voice, hang him] and I'll make a coffin for him. [A voice, Let down hard and his miserable Abolitionists] I should like to see George B. McClellan President of the United States, [Cheers] and that great Democrat, Gov. Seymour should be Secretary of State." [Renewed cheers.]

John Fuller, of Michigan, characterizes the war for the Union as, "This cruel and abominable struggle." [Loud cheers.] Gentlemen, are you willing longer to submit to this state of things? [Cries of No, no.] Are you willing, I again ask, to bear the hardships and submit to this tyranny and oppression? [Renewed cries of No, no.] Are you willing to fall on to the footsteps of Abraham Lincoln, the perjured wretch who has [illegible] at the oath he took before high heaven to support the Constitution and preserve the liberties of the people? [No, and cheers.]

"This Hon. Allen, of New York, said:

"The people will soon rise and if they cannot put Lincoln out of power by the ballot they will by the bullet."

He was put out of power and out of the world by a bullet.

The counsels and speeches of leading Democrats, to say the least, nerved the arm of an assassin to commit the fatal deed.

This Chicago Convention nominated Pendleton of Ohio for Vice President. His want of fidelity to the Union, is manifested in a speech made in Congress, on the 18th of January, 1861, in which he used this language:

"If you will not [illegible] if you find conciliation impossible, if your differences are so great that you cannot, or will not reconcile them, gentlemen, let the seceding States depart in peace. Let them establish their Government and form their own [illegible] and work out their destiny according to the wisdom which God has given them."

[To be concluded.]

ALLEN'S

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS, Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pain and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

We have a small supply of the different sizes, from 10 inches to 48 inches in diameter. That we may know the proper sized wheel you require, measure your water in the following way: Take the width of the stream, the average depth, and the distance it flows in a minute.

All the wheels now in use give universal satisfaction. Both the construction of the wheel and its performance, commend it to the better judgment of all minds capable of appreciating the highest development of mechanical construction. Therefore it has conquered the most violent opposition.

This wheel is especially adapted to mining purposes. It is light, and can be easily packed into the mountains. THAT OLD GREENBACK am still obliged to accept of Legal Tender Notes

at par and have been since Dec 17,
1862, for the rent of
my Handsome Brick
Store, corner of Morrison and Front streets. I feel compelled to announce for the benefit of the public that
JACOB MAYER
Leased the building of me Feb. 17, 1862, for a term of years, at which time there was no currency in vogue, and it was understood the terms were Cash. Since that date above stated, I have received the depreciated currency regularly for the rent of the CITY OF PARIS STORE,
making less than two-thirds of the real value, said Mayer was to pay by the refusal of the building, at very advantageous rates, and even was to be now to comply with his contract, and pay in Coin, would be getting the best bargain in the city. I make this statement to show the public what kind of a man he must be to take such undue advantage of the times to convert a dire dependent, as LEGAL
SWINDLING. The pub-
He can readily see how much it costs to keep such tremendous costly buildings
as the one referred to above.
